LADIES ONCE PUT PLASTER ON FACES TO ADD TO LOVELINESS

Now Article of General Need and Used For Many Purposes.

MANNINGTON, Sept. 18.—Court plaster, it is said, was first used by court ladies in Europe who applied it to various parts of their faces in the belief that it added to their attractiveness.

Today, however, court plaster and its near-relation, adhesive tape, serve in a thousand different ways. Many of them are far beyond the wildest imaginations of those old time court beauties who started it all.

Take for instance the loose pump or oxford, that keeps slipping up and down at each step. What girl has not experienced this aggravating condition at some time? And yet it is easily remedied if a strip of adhesive tape is attached to the inside of the shoe heel just below the top. No more rubbing of blisters.

Leaking rubbers will last much longer if a square of adhesive tape is stuck against the hole on the inside of the shoe, and the same remedy is effective upon leaking hot-water bags.

Adhesive tape wound around toilet handles prevents them from slipping out of the hand, and at the same time the tools are not so cold to handle in the winter. All ball players know the worth of tape on ball bats.

When Johnny Knocks out a window pane and you can't get another right away, just stick the pieces together with strips of adhesive tape and go on with your other work. It will hold.

Sometimes, too, Johnny bangs a vase with his ball bat or the rake which he has carried inside—anyway it gets cracked—but a strip of tape on the inner side will hold the broken pieces in place.

Hospitals, too, could hardly be run without adhesive tape. It is used to fasten bandages, to hold dressings in place, to close wounds and hold the edges together, and hundreds of other uses which make it almost indispensable to surgeons and nurses.

If Tige happens to get hold of Ellen's doll and tears its head off, a strip of universal adhesive tape will stick the doll's head back in place immediately.

A piece of tape pasted over a sore corn will cause the tissue to rot, and by preventing friction against the flesh often cause the corn to disappear.

The steering wheel on your Ford will be held with more ease and less fatigue if wound with tape. It will work as well if wound around the grip of the emergency brake lever, too.

If Johnny's mother is in the habit of pulling her son's ears a strip of tape stuck on the ear will give increased purchase and permit of much harder pulling. While strips pasted over the face will, if left long enough, bleach the skin to a milky whiteness and is death to freckles. This treatment, it is said, requires about two weeks.

In short, about the only things adhesive tape will not do is hold together broken hearts or the League of Nations, or patch up the industrial situation in America.

GRID PRACTICE FOR CANDIDATES SNAPPY

MANNINGTON, Sept. 18.—Candidates for the Mannington High football team were put through a grueling practice Saturday by Coach Jerry Blake, most of the time being given to running signals and tackling.

Hart is rounding into shape nicely, and the other players are showing up well in practice. The men scheduled for the first string are fighting for their places and most of them will probably hold them against all contestants.

Coach Blake will begin scrimmaging sometime this week, it is said, the practice being rushed swiftly in order to put a finished team in the field for the first game.

Fans who are familiar with the situation here declare that Mannington will have one of the scrappiest teams in years, and feel sure that Mannington will put out one of the fastest eleven in the history of the school.

FORD'S ACTION TOUCHES MARKET

Early Losses Feature Session of Exchange Session in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A severe reaction took place in today's market, losses in active issues ranging from 1 to 6 points. Professional selling, combined with liquidation of weakened speculative accounts, with the indirect of the critical near east situation, caused with decline. Sales approximated 1,250,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Early losses ranging from 1 to 3 points in oils and tobacco featured the opening of today's stock market. Ralls scored losses of more than a point, including Canadian Pacific, United States Steel and Vanadium declined a point each, as did Baldwin and American Tobacco, corn products, U. S. Realty and National Enameling.

The closing of the Ford plants was considered a factor in the weak condition of the market. Oils were freely offered, losses of 1 to 2 points being registered by Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, Mexican Petroleum, Coaden and Royal Dutch, New York Airbrake moved against the downward current, rising 1 point to a new high record.

Indications that pools were trying to unload combined with the scramble of some recent buyers to take profits, accelerated the decline as the morning progressed. Losses of 2 to 4 points were sustained before noon by Consolidated Gas, Studebaker, North American, Crucible Steel, Gulf Steel, Bethlehem A. Iron products, union tank preferred, postum cereal, Twin City Rapid Transit, Barnsdall A. Standard Oil of California, Royal Dutch and Mexican Petroleum. Ralls offered a little more stubborn resistance to selling pressure, the losses, ranging from large fractions to 1 1/2 points. Short covering and a bidding up of Texas Gulf sulphur to a new high steadied the market toward mid-day and fractional rallies resulted in several parts of the list. Call money opened at 4 per cent.

The battering tactics of the bears uncovered a mass of stop loss orders and prices broke precipitously in shorts when these were executed. The bulls were dismayed by the abruptness with which prices fell away and there was a rush to save some of the profits of recent purchases which added measurably to the volume of stocks pressing on the market. Nearly all of the well known shares were quoted anywhere from 2 to 3 points under Saturday's closing while Gulf States Steel broke 6 points.

The selling movement gained momentum in the early afternoon, Jersey Central dropping 13 1/2 points and losses of 4 to 8 points being registered at that time by Dupont, General Electric, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, American Tobacco, Standard Oil of New Jersey, North American and American Car. The closing was steady.

LOCAL LEGION

VETS HONORED

Bolyard and McDonald Are Honored at Meeting at Bluefield.

Creed E. Bolyard returned last evening from Bluefield, W. Va., where he had attended the third annual session of the West Virginia Department of the American Legion. Mr. Bolyard was honored by being made vice commander of the first district of West Virginia, which office is the highest in the district.

Mr. Bolyard's duties, will be to organize new commands in the district, to revive those which have fallen by the wayside, and in various other ways look after the business of the Legion in the first district of West Virginia. His duties will be rather heavy for the first year. Mrs. Bolyard is vice chairman of the Women's Auxiliary of the Legion for the first district and they will do a lot of team work in the district having already applications from several places to organize posts and auxiliaries.

According to Mr. Bolyard, the meeting this year far exceeded in importance and amount of business transacted as well as enthusiasm either of the two preceding state meetings. Better resolutions were drafted, and more work planned than ever before.

While no place of meeting was chosen for the next year's conference, it is generally thought that it will be held at Huntington.

Cecil McDonald of this city who also attended the convention was made a delegate to the National convention to be held at New Orleans and W. E. Leonard of Worthington was also made a delegate to the convention. Clarence O. McVeigh of Worthington was present at the convention as was also the commander of the colored post of the American Legion Commander McDaniel of this city. Resolutions were adopted which will have standing in the future operations of the Legion in this state.

Officers were elected as follows: Department vice commander, R.
